

A repository to preserve your thoughts for future discovery. Date them and sign your name.

These are the things that I hope will go on forever and ever in our world, no matter what change lies ahead:

Here's my prediction for a key scientific or medical discovery to be made in the 21st century:

Here's my greatest hope for the new century:

Here's my biggest fear about the future:

Here's how I think we'll be entertained in the new millennium:

These are the kinds of jobs people will be doing by the middle of the century:

How do you want to be known to future generations?

In the new century, what do you hope to accomplish?

What has been the most important event in your lifetime?

What problems do you think will still be around 75 years from now? Which ones will have been solved by then?

This is what I think we will discover about our universe by the year 2065:

What great new invention do you foresee being created in the next 50 years?

You're the editor of a major newspaper in the year 2060. What is the top headline of the day?

Here's my wildest, craziest prediction for the new century:

If you could have changed some important event in history over the past 1,000 years, what would that have been, and how would you have changed it?